

ABSTRACT

Sub
AR A method of operating a processor comprising concatenating a first work and a second work to produce an intermediate result, shifting the intermediate result by a specified shift amount and storing the shifted intermediate result in a third word.